Colby-Sawyer College’s Alumni Office and Adventures in Learning invite you to join us on a special trip to

MEXICO

Food, Fiestas, Folk Art, and Fun

With Professor Randy Hanson

JUNE 3 – 12, 2011

Please join Professor of Social Sciences and Education Randy Hanson, members of Adventures in Learning and Colby-Sawyer alumni on a journey to Central Mexico where Randy has travelled extensively and safely for many years.

The trip, arranged by Compass Travel, will be customized to the group, and will immerse you in Mexican history and culture as you explore ruins and walk the streets of modern Mexican cities on guided tours. You will visit Frida Kahlo’s home and the house of Russian revolutionary Leon Trotsky, savor traditional Mexican food, dance to tropical and norteño music, bargain for folk art at markets and much, much more! The weather should be in the 70s during the day and in the 50s during the evening.

Included Features

- Fully escorted by Professor Randy Hanson
- Accommodations for nine nights in first class hotels with private bath
- Breakfast daily, three lunches, and one dinner
- Sightseeing as outlined in the day-by-day itinerary
- Services of a professional Mexican tour leader
